DETAILED ACTION

Priority

- 5 1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Specification

2. The first sentence under SUMMARY OF THE INVENTION needs to be clarified. It
10 states, "It is an object of the invention to allow a reduction of the cost." It is unclear in what area "reduction of the cost" is achieved. Perhaps, it can be replaced with "it is an object of the invention to allow a reduction of the cost in manufacturing data carriers" or similar sentence.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

- 15 3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

- 20 (e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

- 25 4. Claims 1, 2, and 5-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Lind et al. (US 2006/0187805, hereinafter "Lind").

Art Unit: 2876

Re claims 1 and 9, Lind discloses a system comprising a first data carrier 301 and a second data carrier 601, the first data carrier 301 being detachably attached to the second data carrier (see abstract, paragraphs 0008 and 0010). The second data carrier is read by the reading unit (paragraph 0054 0064); and although not explicitly stated, it is the Examiner's position that 5 SIM card – the first data carrier - is accessed with the reader reading from and/or writing the information to the SIM card.

Re claim 2, the assembly is made of polymer material including polycarbonate (see paragraph 0003); and the SIM plug is made of a plastic or polymer material.

Re claim 5, the first carrier is a GMS plug (paragraph 0038) and the second data carrier is 10 an optical card (0008). Also see figures 7a-9.

Re claim 6, as shown in figure 9, the detachable module can be attached to the optical carrier by way of a bridge 301 (see figure 9 and paragraph 0076). The bridge can certainly be considered a clipping element. SIM card can be attached to the optical carrier.

Re claim 7, relying on figure 6, the detachable module are attached on the grooves 301 of 15 the optical medium. Although not explicitly stated, the detachable module has to pressed/pushed down on the groove.

Re claim 8, the groove 301 is also a breaking line between which goes through the edges of the detachable module (see figure 7a).

Re claim 9, Lind also discloses a method for production of an optical disc with a 20 detachable module (see abstract).

Art Unit: 2876

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

5 (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the 10 claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

15 7. Claims 3 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lind et al. (US 2006/0187805) in view of Ladyansky (US 6,758,404, hereinafter "Ladyyansky").

The teachings of Lind have been discussed above.

20 Lind fails to specifically teach or fairly suggest that the detachable module is made of acrylonitrile butadiene styrene (ABS) or polyvinylchloride (PVC).

Ladyansky teaches a chip card which is a GSM card made of acrylonitrile butadiene styrene (ABS) or polyvinylchloride (PVC) (col. 9, lines 34+; col. 10, lines 25+).

25 In view of Ladansky's teaching, acrylonitrile butadiene styrene (ABS) or polyvinylchloride (PVC) are well known material in manufacturing various cards including SIM, GSM and other cards. Accordingly, it would have been obvious to an ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to well-known ABS or PVC which may be readily available, therefore reducing the manufacturing cost.

Conclusion

5 I. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure: Vogt et al. (US 2003/0173409); Fidalgo et al. (US 6,448,638); Dilday et al. (US 7,080,783); Conner et al. (US 6,832,730); Schoppe (US 6,760,280) disclose various embodiments of data carriers. Applicant is respectfully suggested to carefully review these references.
